Affectionately

Yours

Katharine Hooker

San Francisco, Dec. 9.

My dear Mr. Muir
I have waited
two days, before writing to give you news of Marion, so as to be able to say she was better, which she really is today. But I see I ought to have written at once,
since your note
just received shows

04647

[23]
so much friendly
solicitude.

I was troubled about her, she seemed so weak and miserable,
and she has had a hard time, but this afternoon she is up and moving
about the room, and says I am to tell you she is doing well. I heartily

[33]
echo your wish with regard to her goal,
but did you ever notice that doctors are very wise about the care of their own health? I think they set a poor
example.

We enjoyed our little visit from you so much.
